How to use this sheet

Day Itinerary One-Pager · print one per day, sketch, and let the sketch breathe.

Two or three fixed things is a good day

A trip fills itself around what can't move — the early-entry ticket, the 7 p.m. dinner, the 4-hour train. Put those in first, leave real blank space, and the day breathes rather than collapsing.

Paper beats a dead phone

Write the places' names and addresses on this sheet each morning. When the map app pessimistically dies, the paper still does. This one page keeps the trip going.

Write Plan B on purpose

Rain, closed exhibits, exhausted people and toddlers happen to any trip, any day. Deciding your rain plan before the rain is 80% of the win.

The bottom box becomes your travel journal

A line about what worked and what to skip next time is how each trip makes the next one better. Combined with the budget tracker, you get a complete post-trip review in under five minutes.

Day Itinerary — One-Pager

Print one per day. A plan sketched on paper survives a dead phone battery.

CITY / AREA	DAY & DATE	WEATHER GUESS	BIG FIXED THING TODAY

Time blocks

WHEN	WHAT	WHERE / MEETING POINT	RESERVATION?	COSTS
			☐
			☐
			☐
			☐
			☐
			☐

Getting around today

LEG	FROM	TO	HOW (TRAIN / BUS / WALK / TAXI)	PASS OR CARD NEEDED
1
2
3

Food plan

MEAL	WHERE / IDEA	BOOKED?
Breakfast		☐
Lunch		☐
Dinner		☐
Snack strategy

If things go sideways

BACKUP	PLAN B
It rains
Line too long / closed
Someone needs quiet
Low energy crash

Today's notes & spent

NOTES (WHAT WORKED, WHAT TO SKIP NEXT TIME)	MONEY SPENT TODAY